SUMMARY

Summary (based on whitepaper)

General Data and Information TRON is an open source platform launched in 2017 for the decentralized global distribution of content and entertainment in addition to the deployment of smart contracts. Their white paper was released ahead of their August 2017 ICO on the Ethereum blockchain. Featuring a high TPS (Transactions per second), the network enables creators to publish, store and retain ownership of their content, allowing content creators to be directly rewarded by content consumers via the native coin (TRX) and other crypto-currencies. Using a network decentralized (peer to peer) file storage systems, the Sun network allows content to be placed on the blockchain without the requirement of content publishing middlemen (publishing platforms). The types of entertainment content can range from the familiar forms of music and video through to the newer forms of decentralized applications (dApps) such as online gaming and gambling. Milestones April 2017 - Tron Foundation established. August 2017 - Tron ICO 31st May 2018 - Tron Mainnet launched. June 2018 - ERC20 tokens migrated to Tron. 23rd July 2018 - Bittorrent acquired by Tron Utility The native coin (TRX) can be used by content consumers to pay creators for in-game assets ...read more
